Trogir is a beautiful medieval town situated just off the mainland north of Split - it's connected to the mainland and the island of Ciovo by a bridge. The town is steeped in history which dates back to the Illyrians, Greeks and Romans who all had a hand in building the town. Today it is a world heritage site and is a fantastic place to visit whether you just want to have a meal in an atmospheric old city or to discover more of the history of the place. There are a variety of fine restaurants, bars, cocktail lounges and cafes are located in the town. Several shopping centers are also located very near to the center (across the old Town Bridge, on the main market place). Split is very close and there are many places to visit here especially if you want to do a bit of sightseeing or discover more of the history of the area...
